LOUISVILLE, KENTUCKY, February 15th - The 70th annual Home, Garden and Remodeling Show presented by Champion Windows and powered by LG&E is set to kick off on Friday, March 2nd and will run through Sunday, March 4th at the Kentucky Exposition Center. The 3-day event brings together all the elements found inside and outside the home while industry professionals are conveniently on hand to answer questions. Attendees will have the opportunity to shop, compare prices and get inspired while browsing the latest and greatest in home and garden related products and services.

This year promises to bring back all the traditional elements of the Show, while at the same time adding new flavor and excitement! Immediately upon entering the Show attendees will be immersed in all the sights, smells and sounds of springtime when making their way through the French courtyard-inspired featured entry garden. An entry of this level and scale has never been seen before as guests are welcomed through the Show doors.

The Home & Garden Stage has a new twist this year by expanding seminars to include home-related topics, as well as continuing the popular garden-related topics in the seminar series. Some of the new highlights include urban chicken farming, making a difference in Louisville's tree canopy and creating a monarch waystation in your backyard. The Better Business Bureau will also be on hand to lead educational seminars on how to protect yourself and your family on scams and frauds in our fast-paced world. Attendees will walk away inspired and with the confidence to incorporate many of the themes and ideas in their own home.

Art Explosion is this year's must-see featured entertainment. The Entertainment Stage, presented by Logan Lavelle Hunt Insurance and Wealth Management, will hold daily shows led by Art Explosion's world-famous, speed-art painter. Enjoy watching a masterpiece come to life in a fun, high-energy style, all while choreographed to music. This style of entertainment has never been featured at the Show and is sure to "wow!" The stage will transform into living art as artist SOPHIA creates larger-than-life Louisville tributes from blank canvasses in mere minutes. Multiple showtimes are offered daily and are complimentary with admission.

For the first time, the Kids Area will welcome in Sounds for Song in this area of the Show. Sounds for Song invites attendees to step inside their mobile hearing health clinic and offers free hearing screenings, as well as free hearing protection and education. In addition, Yew Dell Gardens will return to the Kids Area again this year leading seed planting activities for the kids to take home. Yew Dell has been a loyal supporter of the Show for many years and continues to inspire our youth to appreciate nature in a learning environment.

Whether you're looking to remodel your home, expand your living space into your backyard or make minor improvements around the house—this unique and outstanding event is the place to be.!
